Course Description

Use of the Library is a survey of general information literacy skills designed to build research ability and understanding of information.

Prerequisites: None.

Course Objectives

This course will provide you with the knowledge and understanding you need to make your information research painless and successful! You will learn how to:

- Identify the proper sources of information to use for various information needs, including scholarly and peer-reviewed journal articles for academic use
- Find articles on your topics of interest and retrieve them efficiently
- Identify and retrieve books, DVDs, CDs and other library materials that will enhance your understanding of your subject
- Discern what information available via the Internet is appropriate for academic work
- Use the information you find by employing proper citation and avoiding plagiarism

Textbook

None. However, ALL class content is online in D2L and you are expected to READ it! Based on previous students' experience, the best way to ensure your success in this class is to read the content modules.

Communication Expectations

Because this course is fully online, we don't have the benefit of face-to-face communication. Therefore, it is very important that you communicate with me via electronic means to let me know if you are struggling. I am here to help in whatever way possible, but I can't help if I don't know when you are struggling!

If you are feeling overwhelmed, not understanding instructions, having technology troubles, or encountering emergency circumstances that will interfere with your classwork, it is YOUR responsibility to contact me right away.

Please contact me by email first, either the D2L email tool or my address (above) directly. If you do not get a response from me within one business day during the week, please contact me again. I check email and D2L regularly during the workday, but I may not be able to do so as regularly on the weekends.

Late Work Policy

Each module's content will stay "open" to you until the end of class for review purposes.

Late assignments will be accepted as follows:

- One minute late through one week late = 1 letter grade docked
- One week + one minute late through two weeks late = 2 letter grades docked
- Two weeks + one minute late through three weeks late = 3 letter grades docked
- Over three weeks late = no credit

Exceptions may be made for emergencies or other circumstances at instructor's sole discretion – talk to me in advance whenever possible if you know you will have issues with submitting assignments.

Since this is an online class available at any time from any internet connection, circumstances such as traveling away from home or working during the day are not acceptable excuses for late work. Make life easier for yourself and your instructor – submit work on time!
